

MORNING APPEAL.

Saturday, June 16, 1888.

NEEDS INVESTIGATING.

Out in Capdelaria lives a man named Dr. Callison a dead shot, a quick man with a gun and one who by reason of his handy way of pulling his weapon has killed two men. The last victim was one Donahue with whom Callison quarreled because he could not borrow money of him.

He provoked him to a quarrel, applied vile epithets to him and then riddled him with bullets.

The Justice of the Peace decided that there was no reason advanced at the trial for binding Callison over before the Grand Jury.

The Enterprise calls attention to the case and states that the Justice of the Peace, owes his office to Callison's influence and in fact Donahue had quarreled with Callison about it prior to the shooting.

The question now arises how soon will Callison select some other man, to quarrel with and kill?

He has shot down two and still walks about the street more as a hero than anything else.

Some years ago a man named Combs attempted to borrow money of another in this city.

The loan was refused and this was made the pretext for a quarrel in which Ross was killed.

After several attempts on the part of say headed or vicious jurymen to delay justice, Combs was finally convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary for twenty years.

There is still in this State quite a number of people who aim to be known as "handy with a gun," and it is time they were placed where they can not be constantly shooting down law abiding citizens.

This State has passed the border ruffian days and should take a higher stand in regard to the right of people who mind their own business to live.

These men who constantly pack six shooters in their hip pockets, ready to kill people who decline to loan money must be legally looked after.

THE RIGHT MAN.

Ambrose Bierce has been selected by the Committee of arrangements to write a poem for the 4th of July exercises in San Francisco.

Mr. Bierce is by all odds the best man the committee could have selected, but we doubt if his poem will take with the audience. It will be crammed with ideas whereas the San Francisco audience have been accustomed to nothing but metre and jungle in their 4th of July poetry.

Bierce is head and shoulders above all living writers in his line and he handles the English language with that ease and grace that one sometimes is inclined to suspect that he invented it for his private use.

Men who know a good thing when they see it will be delighted with Bierce's effort, but the mob will not.

This however will not in the least bother Bierce.

—It is funny to notice how old Dana has swung the New York Sun into line for the support of the Democratic ticket. The Sun is a protectionist paper, and the St. Louis platform suits Dana about as much as holy water suits the devil. He detests both Cleveland and free trade, and it is very likely that the old chap has his knife ready under his cloak, ready to jab it into the administration's vitals at some critical moment, as he did four years ago.

—The only Northern States carried by Cleveland in 1884 were New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Indiana. Last year Indiana elected a Republican ticket, and at the last election in New Jersey the Republicans gained a sweeping victory. The Republicans enter the present campaign with a decided advantage.

—The reappearance of General Benjamin F. Butler upon the political battle-field would be hailed with delight by the spectators. He is no plumed knight, but he swings a terrible club. One thing is certain: neither Cleveland nor the Democratic party will have any aid from Butler in this campaign.

The Execution of Maxwell

It is seldom that the general public takes an interest in the fortunes of a murderer so far as to wait with interest the date of his execution. But the case of Maxwell, the murderer of Brooks at St. Louis, is a case that has kept public attention from the first. After exhausting every legal expedient including an appeal to the United States Supreme Court the attorneys of Maxwell have finally been compelled to suspend their efforts and accept the inevitable. The date of his execution has at last been fixed for the 13th of July. Unless the Governor of the State should interpose to commute his sentence he will be hanged at that time. It is not likely now that any power will intervene to save him as he has had every opportunity which he could reasonably ask to establish his innocence. The murder was so unprovoked and aggravating in its circumstances that the public has felt no sympathy or compassion with the murderer. After the long delays there will be a general relief to know that the Maxwell case is finally settled and that justice has been vindicated.

Six Children at a Birth.

A Pittsburg dispatch says the wife of the Syndic Mayor of Castagnia Ticino has given birth to six children. This fact is testified to as absolutely correct by an authoritative Berne correspondent. The woman, whose name is Rezzonico, is 28 years of age, and has already given birth to three and four children at one birth. Her husband is married for the second time, and has seven children by his first wife. The six children, four boys and two girls, were born living, but died soon afterwards. The news of this extraordinary event, perhaps hitherto unheard of in the annals of anthropology, has created a great sensation, especially in Italy, and doctors are hastening to the scene from Milan, Como and other towns to satisfy themselves of its truth.
